art = antidote to hate

Exhibition runs June 5 through June 27, 2014
Opening Reception June 12, 2014

EXPLANATION:

The arts have an innate ability to convey social experiences, develop our thinking, share experiences, engage us in discussion and, through these, expand our understanding of the world. In essence the arts touch each of us every day of our lives. As individuals it is our responsibility to use the arts and their message to focus on the human condition and to shed light on the inequities of the world. Whether it is poverty, abuse/bullying, homelessness, human trafficking, gender and racial parity, or sustainability, we must use the arts to express ourselves, call attention to current issues and motivate individuals to promote change. This exhibit will raise awareness & engages patrons in these human issues, and bridges the gap between the life of the individual & life out in the community.

CRITERIA:

Artwork featuring humans only may be entered under the following criteria:

- i. Artwork celebrating respect, equality & diversity
- ii. Artwork honoring/remembers those who have fallen victim to hate crimes. (these may include photographs, quilts, portraits)
- iii. Artwork depicting poverty, abuse/bullying, homelessness, human trafficking, gender and racial parity
- iv. Artwork using social commentary to confront:
  - 1. Unjust Laws
  - 2. Unjust practices

ELIGIBILITY:

This exhibition is open to ArtServe Members, students and the general public. If you are not a member, you may become a member at intake in order to participate or simply by contacting ArtServe at 954-462-8190.

Artists may submit up to two (2) original art works. 2 & 3 dimensional, open media. Work should NOT have been shown in a previous ArtServe exhibit in the past 6 (six) months. No Diptychs or Triptychs will be allowed.
